Ventura County, as well as Los Angeles County, experienced high winds Wednesday and Thursday as the infamous Santa Ana winds whipped through the Ojai Valley. According to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the high winds are expected to die down through the weekend, but more gales are possible. Realtors support Ojai F.L.O.W.
The Ojai Valley Board of Realtors announced that they unanimously voted to support the Ojai Friends of Locally Owned Water plan to buy Golden State Water Company and have it managed by the publicly-held, non-profit, Casitas Municipal Water District.

Executive director of the ODFL, Dawn Shook, said, "Our decision was based on two compelling reasons. The first is the effect Golden State has on local property owners and residents. Golden States water rates are two to three times what other local water suppliers charge. Casitas Municipal Water District has a unique benefit for those by Golden State, and has a negative effect on the prince of real estate. Golden States current rate disparity plus their forecast for more increases in the future makes the problem so severe that the supplier of water has become part of buying and leasing real estate."

Shook went on to say, "Another reason is the benefit to all valley residents, if Casitas takes over the Golden State water system, there will be other benefits such as, more annual revenues to reduce future Casitas water rate increases. And, a larger customer base will allow the possible for a lower fixed overhead."

Shook thanked Ojai Realtors recently, "The members of the Ojai Valley Board of Realtors feel it is important to join other agencies and organizations that are supporting Ojai F.L.O.W., we cannot afford to do otherwise." Realtors support Ojai F.L.O.W.

It was the night before Thanksgiving at our house when I was 10 years old. I asked my mom if I could please have a pet. My dad had been working all day and was completely fed up with my begging, but he let me ask. I eventually got a rabbit named Joey. It was a black bunny with bright orange eyes and a nose that looked like a pumpkin. We named him after our favorite movie character, Joey from "The Grinch." My dad made an enclosure for him in our backyard, and he had a little box with a door that opened and closed automatically. I would feed him corn, carrots, and other vegetables that I had brought from the store. My mom would help take care of him because she was more patient than I was. I remember feeling so happy when I finally got my first pet. It was the best Thanksgiving ever!

Later that year, we got a cat named Bandita. She was a sweet little Siamese cat with orange eyes and a soft, fluffy coat. I named her after a friend of mine who had a cat with the same name. She was so cute and playful, and she loved to chase my dad around the house. I would sit on the couch with her and read books out loud to her. She would purr and relax in my lap. Bandita was my best friend, and I would take care of her like she was my own child. I was so grateful to have her in my life.

Now, as I look back on those happy memories, I realize how much my pets have meant to me. They have given me so much love and joy. I am so thankful for my black bunny and my Siamese cat. They have been my best friends for many years, and I hope they will continue to be part of my life for a long time. I love them so much, and I am so grateful to have them in my life.

Thank you, Bandita and Joey, for being such a huge part of my life. I love you both so much.
In their divorce case. West owes about $100,000 in child support to his three children. Does he make enough money to be considered single? He says he has to - they have enough to get by.

It is very important in any discussion about child support, I think there has been some confusion on the internet. There is no requirement for a personal injury to be taken into account.

I am talking about the Black Friday event at the Walmart store. I have heard reports that a group of people may be organizing to create a barrier for shoppers, possibly by using pepper spray or other tactics.

It is unclear if such an event is planned, and Walmart has not commented on the possibility. However, the company has implemented various security measures at its stores in recent years, including increased police presence and security cameras.

In terms of consumer rights, it is important to consider the potential consequences of engaging in such actions. Walmart has a policy against customers using pepper spray or other aggressive tactics in its stores.

Ultimately, it is up to individual shoppers to decide how they wish to participate in Black Friday events. It is important to consider the potential risks and consequences of engaging in aggressive tactics, and to engage in such actions in a responsible manner.

In addition, it is important to consider the potential impact on the local community and economy. Black Friday has become a major event for many retailers, and any disruptions or incidents could have significant financial and reputational consequences.

It is important for shoppers to engage in Black Friday events in a responsible and safe manner, and to prioritize the well-being and safety of all participants. It is also important for retailers to continue to implement security measures to protect their customers and employees.

Please join us as we celebrate the Grand Opening of the new Ojai Village Veterinary Hospital

Saturday, December 3rd, 2011, 1:00 – 4:00 pm
311 W. Ojai Ave., Ojai, CA 93023

After commuting to the Pasadena area for many years, Dr. Steve Sallen sold his veterinary hospital and has opened a new state-of-the-art hospital close to his Ojai home.

Steve was born and raised in Colorado, graduated from Colorado State University, and found his way to Ojai almost 14 years ago. While raising their two sons, Steve and his wife, Donna, became active members of the Ojai community.

Steve practices general and surgical care with an emphasis on diagnostics, advanced dentistry and allergic skin disease.

For more than 20 years, he has been a member of the American Animal Hospital Association, which is dedicated to raising the standards of small-animal care.

At the grand opening, you can meet Steve and take a tour of the brand-new facility, located in a vintage Spanish-style building on Ojai Avenue.

Refreshments will be served.

Ipad raffle tickets will cost $5 each. Raffle ticket proceeds will benefit the Humane Society of Ojai.
