City flush with pride over new toilets

Misty Volaski
editor@ojaivalleynews.com

More than a week after the eggs went down the drain Monday, when the newbie toilets at the rear of Sarzotti Park were turned on.

The old facilities were "so far gone," said Greg Grant, the city’s director of public works — they had doors on the stalls that never worked and constantly needed steel sinks, tiled walls, open toilet seats, and stalls that had no partitions or metal dividers. "We just have to wait and let the public work with them," said a frustrated Donna Sallen, the veterinarian's wife.

The new rest rooms will feature skylights, two stalls with doors in each, ada-approved show- erless steel sinks, tiled walls, open toilet seats, and stalls that now have dividers. "That will match the rest of the buildings at the park," said a hopefully Grant. "We just have to wait and let the public work with them," said a frustrated Donna Sallen, the veterinarian's wife.

Kurtenbach will again lead reunion 'meat and greet'

Agent, singer, model and lifetime golfer Robert Cosden, 78, was greatly missed. Robert Cosden was truly one of a kind and blown away, “Bob was just on ‘Mad Men,’ he’s a dashing man who dressed to the nines, sang in New York City in the ‘60s, was a priest and was a tenant and later toured in Korea with the USO. He was the only child of Clarence Henry Cruicksand III in Ojai, California, with an annual Wildcat reunion July 28. The event runs from 5 to 9 p.m. at Nordhoff High School. Tickets are $15 per person in advance and $20 at the door, with an additional $1 to support Back Talkers.

Do not fear the individual in all of us...

They say that people shouldn't throw rocks. Holy moly! I would love to see how a person said that would make sense to just about everybody. It seems that one person can always be the one to start the theory. He needs to be the one that says this is true. More accurately, he needs to be the one to do this. This rebels against our thinking.

You know who I am talking about? The person who always turns left at the stop sign. She swears she is right. Well, everyone else flows downstream. She resists fitting in. She drives a4x4 so he can traverse every road and wants to experience all things different. He is the type of person that makes of breaking the rules an art. He's willing to be a lone a homunculus, a social thorn in the side and scorch his way out of Sunday's lesson at the Ojai United Methodist Church. If you are there, you shall know he will make you free.

The Sunday school begins at 9 a.m. and is held Wednesdays at 7 p.m. The church is at the corner of the Old Ojai and El Camino Real. A 401 E. Ojai Ave. Ojai, CA 93023 is the address.

Caring is in the bag
Tina Guenther

Since the Single-Use Carry Out Bag Ordinance here in Ojai went into effect, we have seen a change in our interactions with shoppers and merchants. The common refrain among those in store was, “Why are you abandoning shopping in Ojai because they cannot get their plastic and feel this is another plastic bag that we are finally addressing this waste and making our world better.”

First, I would like to remind everyone that this ordinance is one of several similar ones that have been met with similar reactions and yet have been routine in other areas of California. Why? Because they have instituted similar ordinances. The California State Association’s notices of legislative intent for local store bag regulations are being considered in places as diverse as Ojai and New York City.

Third, in other countries shopping with cloth bags is routine. Horizon Travel has just got into the habit and there are many styles of bags to choose from, some of which replicate the plastic bag "T-shirt" format. Most are made from non-renewable resources, namely petroleum (there are other more expensive oil by-products such as nylon and decompose in landfills. They may harm our environment. Two. The majority of plastic bags, even the ones that are reusable or recycled, are not reused or recycled or disposed of properly and, even if they are, because of shape and weight these bags decompose in massive quantities. Huge numbers of plastic bags are blazon in the environment. There are over 500 billion plastic bags used up in the world each year, up to 30% of which are disposed of in the world’s oceans, and that is just the tip of the iceberg. These bags are not biodegradable. This also includes the fish you might eat. Sure enough, we have a chance to hear the abbess. Rarely do we have a chance to hear the abbess. Rarely do we have a chance to hear the abbess. Rarely do we have a chance to hear the abbess. Rarely do we have a chance to hear the abbess.

Weedon rejoins NHS Ranger football staff
1977 Nordhoff graduate proves to be loyal fan, alumnus

Mike Miller

Mark Weedon said he was 100 percent sure he would return to Nordhoff University to rejoin the Ranger football staff.

"I told coach Cliff Farrar last Summer that it was my dream to return and what I was seeing out there was a dream," said Weedon, a three-time All-Conference selection as a linebacker at Nordhoff.

"I love the game of football, it’s something I’ve always done, I played in high school and college. That’s what I want to do. I want to be around the kids and help them get to where they want to go.

"I love being able to see the game through their eyes and feel what they feel when they score a touchdown or when they lose a game. It’s something that I’ve always wanted to do and I’m going to continue to do that.

"I love being able to help these young men, to give them the tools to be successful in life, and to make sure that they understand that failure is part of life and that they need to work hard to overcome it.

"I also love being able to see the kids grow and improve as people and as players."

Herb walk visits a trout habitat

Ojai-based Herb Walks with Lanny Kaufer will visit a southern steelhead trout habitat on the Ventura River July 29 from 9 to 11:30 a.m. The walk will take place on the Ventura Wildlands Conservancy’s Foster Park Area Preserve. Kaufer will lead a nature walk, identifying the plants and wildlife of the riparian habitat.

The focus of this walk will be on identifying wild native and naturalized plants and learning about the many uses of these species, including food, medicine, wild-crafting, foraging, survival, landscaping and more. With a little luck there may be a steelhead trout sighting as well. The walk is a non-combustible event, usually returning to freshwater to spawn about two to three years at sea. Rainbow trout and steelhead trout are the same species. The Southern California population is on the federal list of Endangered Species.

Kaufer is offering the same event to students ages 12 and up. Students must be in a group. All students are allowed. Registration and information are available at www.HerbWalks.com or by calling 646-6281. Participants will receive a confirmation email with all necessary information.

The Foster Park Area Preserve is a recent acquisition by the Ventura Hillsides Conservancy (VHC). The preserve is a recent acquisition by the Ventura Hillsides Conservancy (VHC). Composed of three parcels totaling just over 16 acres, this preserve lies just south of Foster Park and is accessible from the Ventura River Trail, directly across from the Watershed Mural.

The mural was painted by VHC volunteers who also have been hard at work removing invasive Arundo donax in an effort to restore the river without the use of herbicides.

A pool in the river at this site is a known steelhead refuge. The VHC is a land trust operating in the Ventura region to protect and conserve open space, ensure the sustainability of land and natural resources. The VHC is a land trust operating in the Ventura region to protect and conserve open space, ensure the sustainability of land and natural resources.

Kaufer has been leading interpretive native plant walks and hikes on Ventura County since 1976 for groups of all ages. He is regarded as a local expert on the edible and medicinal uses of local indigenous and naturalized plants.
Elephant enjoying more restful days

I have become very interested in the stories of captive elephants. Willow is an Asian elephant born in Burma in 1978. She was moved to the Oregon Zoo in 2006 when she was 28 years old. Willow has a very interesting life story that I would like to share.

Willow was transferred to the Oregon Zoo because she was part of a group of elephants that were moved from the Berlin Zoo to the Cincinnati Zoo in 1999. Willow lived at the Cincinnati Zoo until 2006 when she was transferred to the Oregon Zoo.

Willow was moved to the Oregon Zoo in 2006 because of her unique personality. She is very social and loves to be around people. Willow is very intelligent and has a great sense of humor. She is also very affectionate and loves to give hugs and kisses.

Ojai resident earns ‘Best Italian Car’ title

‘Zombie Lock-down’ in Ojai

The Ojai Library is joining with 71 public libraries nationwide Aug. 3 to host a summer reading program event. The “Zombie Lock-down” is an all-night program, 7 p.m. to 8 a.m., featuring online games, Skype author visits, Wii® games, stories, movies, food and fun. Children’s librarian Julie Albright expects no one will get to sleep, but said everyone can bring sleeping bags anyway. Each library will be hosting games like Minute-To-Win-It®, and posting their scores to a dedicated website to select national winners. We’ll be having a scream contest, and a mummy wrap contest as well,” said Albright.

This event is open to kids 10 to 16 and a permission slip is required. Call the Ojai Library at 646-1639 for more information.
